Phantom Screens announces partnership with Jon Grohne and Sydney Green as regional distributors, Phantom Screens of Denver

ABBOTSFORD, British Columbia February, 2026: Award-winning Phantom Screens is thrilled to announce its newest partnership, Phantom Screens of Denver. The association between Jon Grohne and Sydney Green paves the way for unmatched distribution opportunities from Denver, Castle Rock to Boulder, Colorado.

The company is confident that Phantom Screens of Denver will provide customers with the same outstanding quality, exceptional customer service, and best warranties in the industry that they have come to count on from Phantom Screens since 1992.

As co-owners of CCI Shading Systems and Denver Blind Company, a thriving business specializing in window coverings for commercial projects, the sibling duo took over from their dad who founded CCI in 1978. Years later, they opened Denver Blind as a separate brand, specializing in residential motorized retractable exterior screens.

Grohne first heard about Phantom 15 years ago for a large residential project in the mountains. His initial impression, being that the project was for a large custom home, was that Phantom products were of high quality with capabilities that were new to him. However, it wasn't until three years ago that Grohne and Green began their journey into exterior screens and have since learned of Phantom's full product line and the extensive applications.

The Phantom Screens' reputation and broad customer base, combined with its market leading selection of innovative products, makes this newest partnership a perfect fit. Grohne and Green are both excited about associating with a company that shares the same commitment to quality and Integrity as they do.

"The ability to cover or treat spaces other manufactures simply can't, combined with the value and quality simply make Phantom Screens' products the preferred choice," says Grohne. "We have a division that is strictly for homeowners and the demand and interest is very high. We cannot state how excited we are to represent the brand."

Living in Denver means sometimes dealing with challenging weather conditions that can wear down your home's windows over time. Denver's climate can sometimes bring intense UV rays, sudden temperature swings, and dry air. With Phantom Screens, Grohne says he expects the market to be extremely excited about its screens: "Regarding our clients, outdoor screens are of huge interest and demand."
